Congratulations to the Class of 2014, and welcome to the ranks of Elon University's 30,000 alumni.

You have all been prepared in the great liberal arts tradition for a lifetime of learning, using your talents in writing, research, analysis, persuasion, and critical thinking to create lives and careers of meaning and purpose in a fast-changing world. You have combined these competencies with strong majors and experiences through international and domestic study, service-learning and community engagement, internships, undergraduate research, and leadership development—transformative opportunities that have positioned you for success. You should be proud of your accomplishments and know that your alma mater cherishes each of you.

What I hope for each of you is that you take the knowledge and skills that you have gained at Elon and put them to good use in a world that desperately needs smart people with good hearts! Equally important, I hope you will keep Elon close throughout every stage of your life. As alumni, you represent Elon's future, and I encourage you to take responsibility for keeping your alma mater strong and moving forward. Stay connected through the Elon network, including the alumni chapter or club in your area, visit campus as often as you can, and consider speaking to a class because we value your contributions. Once you are established in a career, reach back to help an Elon student secure an internship or a job, and advocate for Elon in your community.

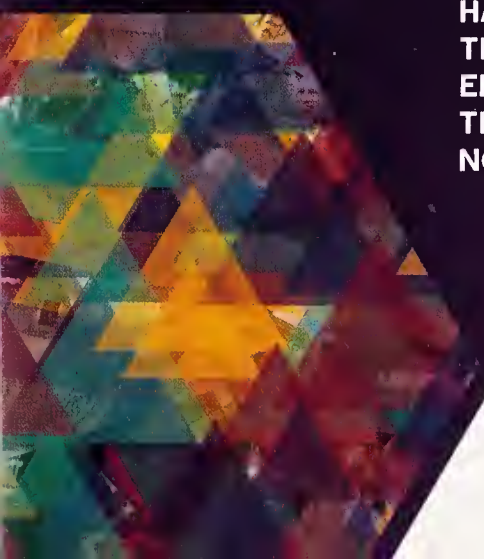

The world needs Elon graduates, and I firmly believe that the next great leap in Elon's reputation will come from the accomplishments of extraordinary alumni like you.

Long Live Elon!

Leo M. Lambert

125 YEARS

ELON'S HISTORY CAN BE SEEN EVERYWHERE: IN THE ARCHITECTURE OF THE BEAUTIFUL CAMPUS, IN THE TRADITIONS THAT ARE PASSED DOWN YEAR AFTER YEAR AND ON EVERY PAGE OF THIS BOOK. THE COVER DESIGN, WHICH CAN BE SEEN TO THE LEFT, IS MADE UP OF PHOTOS OF ELON'S HISTORY LIKE THE ONES SHOWN HERE. OVER THE PAST 125 YEARS, ELON HAS CHANGED FOR THE BETTER, WHILE HOLDING ON TO THE SAME VALUES THAT STARTED THE INSTITUTE. BY CREATING THIS BOOK, I HOPE TO HONOR ELON'S PAST BY LEAVING ITS MARK ON EACH PAGE. IF IT WERE NOT FOR THE PAST 125 YEARS, ELON WOULD NOT BE WHAT IT IS TODAY, AND I WOULD NOT BE THE PERSON I AM TODAY WERE IT NOT FOR ELON.

MOVE-IN DAY

we're going to make this place your home

It's that time of the year again. As the summer fades away and fall begins to take hold, it's time to go back to school, or for first-year students, it is time to start college. Elon University welcomed an incoming freshman class of over 1,450 new students to campus for move-in day. Move-in day is a part of the annual orientation weekend, which lasted from August 23 through the 26 for the 2013-2014 academic school year. Orientation is jam packed with thrilling activities to help new students get acclimated to life at Elon. Among these activities are fun traditions such as Catch the Fire and the Phoenix Extravaganza. Move-in day is an exciting experience for students and families alike. Families roam the campus, luggage is hauled every which way and the Elon campus buzzes with activity. This day presents first year students the opportunity to finally meet their roommate and see their dorm room for the very first time. Starting college can be a nerve-racking experience but Elon works hard to ensure that new students feel comfortable in their new environment. Staff and returning students assist first years in getting settled on Move-in day. This day paves the way for a student to get a feel for what it means to be a Phoenix and to live the Maroon Life. It is also a turning point in a student's life that further transitions their ascent into adulthood. Once first year students move in to their rooms to live on campus for the very first time, it only becomes a matter of time before new students call Elon home. JORDAN ROMAN orientation

After all incoming first-years move into their dorms, orientation weekend kicks off in hopes of helping students adjust to college life. Orientation Leaders answer endless questions, foster excitement, and welcome students to their new home. Students and Orientation Leaders enjoyed events such as Catch the Fire, Phoenix Extravaganza, and hypnotist Tom Deluca. By starting the year off on the right foot, first year students feel welcomed into the Elon community, which will become home for the next four years.

getting involved

To get back into the swing of things, Elon hosts many events for returning students, as well as new students, to campus. These events include Orientation Weekend, Sports Fest and the Organization Fair. These events help first-years adjust to life on campus, encourage students to participate in group activities, and provide students with the opportunity to join groups at Elon. Each of these events makes students feel like they are part of Elon's campus and encourages them to get involved in the Elon life. KIMBERLY HONIBALL

homecoming concert

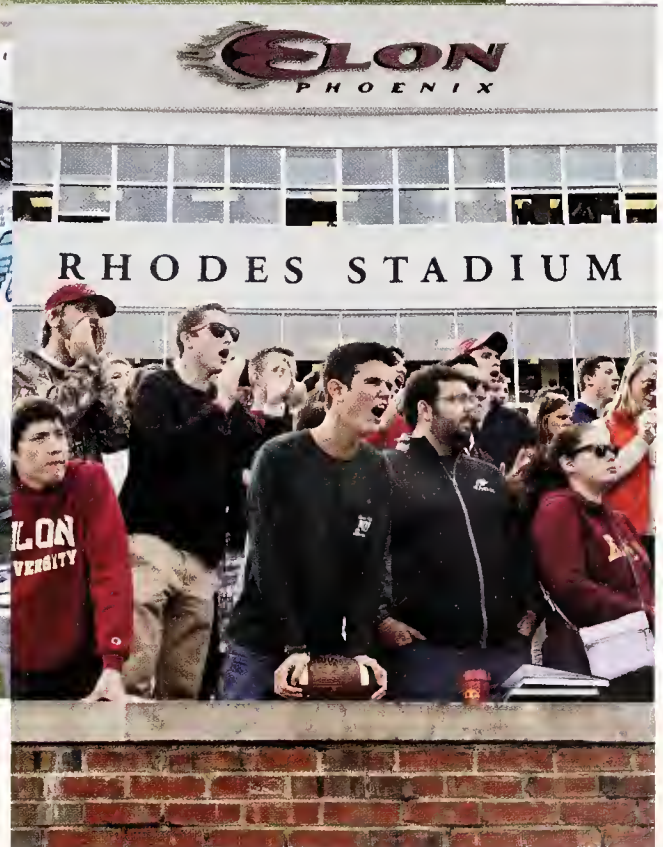

In all the years that Elon University has existed, there has never been more school spirit than on the 125th anniversary Homecoming celebration. Many alumni arrived that Friday in order to attend the football game, explore the new additions around campus, and partake in multiple events for the exciting weekend. The celebration included the football game and court as a part of the 2013 Homecoming weekend. Held on November 9th, the Homecoming game and court constituted an opportunity for both current students and alumni alike to relish in the Elon spirit and celebrate many generations of the Phoenix. Various tents, stands and tailgates could be seen lining the street in front of the football stadium. During the two hours prior to the game, students and alumni were able to celebrate and indulge in food, games and music.

At halftime, the homecoming court was presented and the King and Queen were crowned. Homecoming Queen was awarded to Meredith City of Alpha Chi Omega, and Homecoming King went to Eric Noyes of ResLife. There were also a select few alumni honored with various awards for their work representing the university outside of Elon. The conglomeration of current and past students celebrated the Elon Homecoming tradition that has remained strong for 125 years and counting. This year's celebration serves to display the impressive force that Elon has become and the presence it has on the world. This event represents the true spirit of the school and illustrates that, as a community, we all will always remain phoenix and are, forever, always a part of Elon. JORDAN ROMAN

LIGHTS ALL NIGHT

Rows and rows of candlelights lined the brick walkways of Elon's campus. From Moseley to Alamance, the dim candles cast a serene glow into the crisp evening air. An amalgamation of the student body began to gather around the fountain facing Alamance building. A light display, complete with decorations, faced the students, and cups of warm apple cider and hot chocolate rested in the hands of the students. Smiles, laughs, and song filled the air and produced the perfect atmosphere for getting into the holiday spirit. Christmas was just around the corner, and Elon University was celebrating the holiday season in merry fashion. Luminaries is a special celebration that has become a tradition at Elon and happens just before the holidays. This past year Luminaries occurred on December 2 in front of Fonville Fountain. Carol singing and rejoicing in the winter season with friends were enjoyed by all who attended. Luminaries embodies the traditions of the holiday spirit exhibited by the students of Elon University. college coffee

From its induction in 1984, College Coffee has become one of the most well-known, appreciated and celebrated traditions at Elon. Every Tuesday morning, from 9:40 to 10:30, students, faculty, and staff join together for coffee and pastries in the Phi Beta Kappa Commons. Whether it is to snag a free coffee or a chance to catch up with friends, College Coffee is enjoyed by the entire Elon Community.

Leo Lambert addresses the new student population during orientation weekend with his infamous convocation speech. This event takes place under the Oaks behind West Dormitory. Lambert reminds students how lucky they are to be studying at a private university by having first-years create a human bar graph. At the end of the ceremony, all first-year students receive an acorn to symbolize the beginning of their time at Elon. At commencement, which takes place at the same location senior year, students receive a sapling to show their growth over the past four years. TAYLOR BARCLAY

From the first moment I stepped on campus, Elon was my home. My dearest friends I met on Virginia second floor and in the circle of sisterhood and my love affair with Elon grew at College Coffee, lighting of the luminaries for the holidays at Fonville Fountain, Under the Oaks and at the Koury Center. The squirrels, the acorns, the oaks, the bricks that tripped me daily, the memories may fade but my fondness never will. Long live Elon.

—Aimee Carter '97

What do I love about Elon? It's the love. It is the magical place where I met my wife, fell in love and have been with her ever since that day when our eyes met. We thought that was the end of our Elon story, but no, our two daughters fell in love with it and decided they wanted to experience what their parents did. Our oldest graduated two years ago and our youngest is a sophomore. They love it too! Our family surely loves Elon, and we always will bleed Maroon and Gold. LONG LIVE ELON! —Mickey Leggett '77

FASHION FORWARD

The Student Union Board had one goal for the 2013-2014 school year: entertain Elon by providing students with fun activities. All events were completely free to all students and usually had free food; what's not to love? Not only did SUB bring fun to campus, but they did it every Thursday through Saturday night. Thursdays featured Midnight Meals, which included bingo, a cappella performances, game nights, exercise classes, and other activities. SUBLive took place on Friday nights where students could come see a live band or comedian. The weekend came to an end with SUBCinema on Saturdays and, depending on the weather, students could gather in either Irazu or out on Young Commons to see a screening of an unreleased movie. Other special events included a hypnotist show, Cram Jam, SUBSwag, the Homecoming and Spring Concert, and much more. TAYLOR BARCLAY

student organizations

Many students believe that getting involved in student activities is an important part of utilizing the college experience. When it comes to being involved in student organizations on campus, it's all about giving it the old college try. Rows and rows of tables filled with candy, food of all kinds, cardboard posters, fliers and costumes could be seen across Young Commons for Elon's 2013 Organization Fair. The annual Org Fair was held on September 6 with over 250 student organizations and campus programs being represented. It can be an overwhelming and exciting experience for first-year students at Elon, but it is a great way for students to learn about everything they can get involved with on campus. Elon provides an array of exciting clubs that encompass all facets of interests and allows students to partake in fun activities and make lots of friends. Many students quickly find that they want to be involved in so many exciting organizations on campus that they need to learn to prioritize extra-curriculars with classes. JORDAN ROMAN

RELAY FOR LIFE

Relay for Life was an incredible experience for the Elon community. People came together and showed support to those who have been affected by cancer, whether personally or through friends and family. From hypnotist and musical performances to barbecue and games, students had a lot of fun while supporting a great cause. Relay is close to my heart because of my mom's fight against Breast Cancer. I was lucky enough to be able to light a luminary in celebration of her health this year. I am proud of all the participants' dedication to the cause, which was shown by the amount of money they raised for the American Cancer Society. TAYLOR BARCLAY

To bring the Elon community together, the Truitt Center for Religious and Spiritual Life gave students and staff the opportunity to express their faith through art. “Through sidewalk chalk or paint on a canvas, the Truitt Center welcomes and encourages students to answer the question of what faith means to them,” sophomore Morgan Abate said. Students gathered in the Speaker’s Corner for a chance to be creative and start conversations about faith and religion. After the event, the Truitt Center displayed canvases with students’ art in the Numen Lumen Pavilion. This event was part of the Truitt Center’s larger goal to promote interfaith awareness and dialogue to foster an inclusive community where people are free to ask questions, share stories and serve each other. CREATIVE COMMUNICATIONS

Elon University is home to the McEwen School of Communications that operates as the force behind virtually all of the student media that is produced on campus. The School of Communications at Elon is one of only eighteen accredited schools in the nation. It houses a variety of state of the art facilities such as audiovisual editing suites, high-tech media and filmmaking equipment that can be rented, and a station that broadcasts student made work, such as shows and film projects. With a variety of intricate majors that cover fields ranging from journalism to cinema, the McEwen School of Communications offers students an exciting opportunity to engage in various multimedia opportunities and to gain experience for the future.

I am a cinema major at Elon and can speak from personal experience to the enriching, valuable experience that comes along with being a communications student involved with creating media on campus. Elon offers many exciting extracurricular activities that are incorporate media. I am involved in the film club, CinElon, which produces short films. I am also involved with the sketch comedy show, Elon Tonight, and the mockumentary sitcom, Newsbreakers. All of these clubs offer unique opportunities to get involved on campus and for students to produce different types of media. These clubs allow students to get real life experience through planning, producing, shooting and editing content. Along with working with actors and orchestrating the elements of production, these opportunities allow a student to expand their knowledge and to adequately produce high quality work. I have learned so much and improved as a creator and artist through these experiences. I have produced a variety of content including short films, show episodes, music videos and more to put in a portfolio for a potential job. The exciting part is that these media activities have also allowed me to experiment and discover what I truly want to do. I have had the opportunity to direct, write, act, shoot, run audio and produce while at Elon. These are experiences I cherish, and I hope they will present my versatile skills in the job market.

ESTV is the media station in the School of Communications and their television channel broadcasts student media all over campus to showcase student projects. Other media outlets include the student-run newspaper, The Pendulum, the student-run magazine, The Edge, and a public relations firm that works with Elon community clients, LiveOak. Examples of the high caliber of student created media are all over campus and deserve a second look. JORDAN ROMAN

EDUCATION FOR LIFE

On a typical fall afternoon, Russell Gill sits at his desk in Whitley and reflects on his time spent teaching English at Elon. Professor Gill moved to Elon with his wife in 1976, and has been a part of the Elon community ever since. Dr. Gill received his undergraduate degree from William and Mary and then went on to Harvard University for his PhD in English.

In the 37 years that he has been teaching in Elon's community, he has noticed the incredible amount of growth it has undergone. "Elon has grown so much, much bigger and more complex. It's been committed to doing a high quality job, a conscientious job, with a real sense of community," Gill says.

Dr. Gill explains that the best teachers he had were those whose ideas meshed with his own, including an influential philosophy professor at William and Mary. Gill also cherishes working with his own students. "You have to enjoy working with people, you have to sympathize with people at that stage in life. You have to like that stage of life," Dr. Gill describes of working with students maturing into adulthood. He also discusses how students continue to teach him all the time, and that the experience is humbling.

When asked about the importance of teaching English, Dr. Gill explains the various qualities of literature. "Reading increases your empathy and your understanding of people, literature is certainly a great way of increasing your ability to interact in admirable ways." Russell Gill is a passionate progenitor of service, and wishes to see his students engage with the community. He says he wants his students to have the ability to see the complexity and variety of life in people, and thus to experience it with more pleasure, service, helpfulness, engagement and attention to needs and services.

For such an experienced professor with so much knowledge of the English language, Dr. Gill still has a major goal he wishes to accomplish. He explains with a chuckle, "I want to go to El Centro, to be able to speak Spanish. I have several children whose job involves Spanish and it's clear I can't speak Spanish." JORDAN ROMAN

As the temperatures plummeted and the snowfalls blanketed most of the country in a coat of bright white, Elon University students returned to campus for their next round of classes. Following the holiday season, students got to experience the exciting semester nestled between Fall and Spring known as 'Winter Term'. This year brought the extra excitement of unprecedented weather conditions.

Winter Term presented a multitude of possibilities for students to engage in on campus apart from the compelling classes offered. Some students chose to get their requirements out of the way while others chose to take eclectic classes they could otherwise not have had the chance to take. Many students also took advantage of this mini-semester to travel through Elon's exciting study abroad programs.

Many students cherished the plentiful amount of free time that wasn't available during the fall. For three weeks, students attend one class for three hours a day in either the morning or the afternoon every week day. With only one class, students' attention is devoted to one subject, and they have more free time to spend on activities around campus other than homework.

Various cultural events, performances and club activities were offered from organizations on campus. Students could experience the college life at its fullest by enjoying the irreplaceable memories of the undergraduate years without four papers from four different classes looming over their heads.

As the new year began, winter term at Elon began as well. Students were presented with intriguing new adventures during this time, and they created unique memories only available to students at Elon University. JORDAN ROMAN

periclean scholars

The Periclean Class of 2014 was formed in the spring of 2011 in order to partner with, and serve, the communities of Central Appalachia. Since their formation, they have spent their years at Elon studying and working with their partner communities to raise money for the Boone-Raleigh community center by way of various fundraisers and an Indiegogo campaign.

With the funds raised, they have helped the community center build a children's library, host their yearly apple butter event, fed the community through numerous holiday dinners, and worked to educate the community about their various economic and environmental options.

They have also filmed a documentary focused on the people behind the divisive issues in Central Appalachia, which brought a human element to a story that usually only consisted of poverty and despair. The Scholars time spent with their partner communities enveloped their class in the cause they were dedicated to. Because they were a domestically located class, they had plenty of chances to be a force for good in their communities of choice. DANA HEDMAN

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Patrick Clayton has graced the stage for the last four years in a variety of stunning roles during his career at Elon University. His latest role was as Coalhouse Walker Jr. in Elon's production of Ragtime: The Musical. He spoke about the role of theatre in his life: "I truly believe in all of the healing powers of theatre and the arts. It is one of the most important things that we have, the arts as humans is crucial." Clanton discussed his aspirations to do more for the world beyond being on the stage: "Any way that I can, I sympathize with people so easily that I want to be more than just a performer, but I want to use the gifts I have been given to make the world a better place to be in." Recently, Patrick became one step closer to achieving his dreams by scoring a role in the touring Broadway show of Sister Act as a member of the ensemble and understudying the roles of Eddie, Curtis and TJ. He passed through a series of callbacks in New York City and received a call in the middle of a class the very next day that informed him he landed the role. Patrick described how incredibly grateful and thankful he was for the opportunity and he stated that he hoped the show would be coming to North Carolina so that all of his friends and family could see it. Patrick Clanton is an example of how passion, humility, hard work and a willingness to help others can help one achieve their dreams. JORDAN ROMAN

"At Warner Bros. Records in Burbank, California, creativity is fostered from an idea's conception to its execution. Interns, execs, and artists alike work together in efforts to bring music, film, and trends to the rest of the world. In the business of music, social capital is as vital as the numbers. Being a part of the Warner Brothers Family offered me an entirely new perspective on what I want to do in life." MAX FABRICANT

"I liked working with television professionals in LA. I understood what it takes to work in the real world, something I wouldn't have been encouraged to do so quickly without programs like Elon in LA. At my internship, I liked the creative atmosphere of a large company like FreemantleMedia while getting exposure to the LA lifestyle." BRIAN MEZERSKI

FIRST DOWN PHOENIX

DOUGLAS WARRICK

BEHIND THE SCENES: Playing Division I Football is a huge commitment. There is not a day that goes by that we are not doing something to get better. As far as rituals go, they are endless. The most interesting ritual is the receivers dancing before games.

TRAINING ROUTINE: Lift 3 days a week, watch film, and practice 5 days a week

OUTSIDE FOOTBALL: The team always tries to give back to the community by hosting different events for kids. I enjoyed helping out with the Special Olympics and can't wait to volunteer again.

BIGGEST MOTIVATORS: My family members. My parents drive endless hours to be at every one of my games.

INSIDE HIS FRIDGE: Pork Roll from NJ.

THE LITTLE THINGS IN LIFE: I love kittens. I enjoy surfing and working on cars.

LET'S GO ELON!

JESSICA HARRIS

BEHIND THE SCENES: I have been cheering since elementary school and first tried out and made the cheerleading team at Elon during my sophomore year.

TRAINING ROUTINE: A run before practice, gym workouts on the side.

OUTSIDE CHEERLEADING: Undergrad research, Pre-Dental Society president, chemistry honor society (PLU) secretary, member of American Chemical Society, and Intervarsity.

BIGGEST MOTIVATORS: The upperclassmen who have gone before me and proven that it is possible to excel in both a collegiate sport and academically.

IMPACT AT ELON: I want to show that just because someone is an athlete doesn't mean they receive special treatment, but that they still work just as hard in the classroom to achieve their success.

LINDY TERRY

FAVORITE ASPECT: This sport relies on trust and support for success, so our team is pretty tightly knit together.

TRAINING ROUTINE: Summer workout plan, three-mile run before practice, and leg, core, and arm conditioning.

OUTSIDE CHEERLEADING: I would love to teach broad, but only for a short time.

BIGGEST MOTIVATORS: My best friend and co-captain, Kali Snuggs. She is an incredibly talented individual who constantly challenges me to be better and work harder.

IMPACT AT ELON: Elon Athletics has opened up many doors for us to be involved in service work in the community, and I think this is where a huge part of my impact has been made. These little kids think we are awesome, and they listen to each word we say. To know that I could influence a child with only my words is a very powerful thing.

HANNA WENTZ

TEAM LIFE: Our team is very close and each member knows that if they ever needed a friend or someone to help them, they would automatically have 16 girls who would be there in a second. Practices are filled with laughter and good times, but we also have serious moments where we need to motivate each other.

LEADERSHIP: As captain, I have more responsibilities than the other team members. I have to make sure everyone knows about practices each week and what to wear to games and practices. I also do most of the choreography for our halftime routines for football and basketball. I try to be a leader by setting an example for our underclassmen on how to act and properly represent the university.

IMPACT AT ELON: I want to be a role model for future members because I was chosen as an All American when we went to camp, the only one for Elon. I think this shows girls that even though Elon is not a big university school, we can still put Elon on the map and show that we can compete with bigger schools.

BEHIND THE SCENES: I can rap the first verse of "Super Bass." I've modeled for dance costume magazines, and everyone calls me Hanna Mae.

TEAM LIFE: We sacrifice anything necessary on a daily basis to ensure that we are able to perform to our highest capabilities on the field and in the classroom. Taking pride in being an Academic All-American team has helped us achieve that goal for the past five years.

LEADERSHIP: I try to lead by example when appropriate, in being the middle man between the players and the coaching staff is also a big aspect in being a leader in this type of program.

FUNNY MEMORY: My favorite memory is when Jason Waterman took a hard shot below the belt during a really intense practice. His reaction was priceless.

IMPACT AT ELON: The university as a whole is experiencing such a positive progression among elite colleges in the country. I just hope that I can do my part to ensure that within my sphere of influence, the soccer program continues to exceed expectation on and off the field while helping in any way to boost the status of the university.

BEHIND THE SCENES: I am a black belt in karate, I once worked at the Philadelphia Zoo, and my first ever shot on a golf course was a hole-in-one.

TEAM LIFE: On three we chant "together." I love this ritual because it describes everything we preach as members of this team. We are huge on teamwork and working together, on and off the field. We are a very close-knit team and we do almost everything together. I can't imagine not playing a team sport.

LEADERSHIP: As a captain, I try to lead by example and to be a vocal presence on and off the field. I also hope to be one of the people on this team anyone could turn to if they were to need someone.

STUDENT TEACHING: I'm starting to get very involved in the world of education for my life after I graduate. I'm passionate about physical fitness and helping other people lead a long and active life. So I'm finding ways to become involved in doing so in the community.

MOTIVATORS: My parents have been my support since day one, but all of my siblings play soccer as well at the elite levels. We compete with one another and push each other to be our very best, every day.

BEHIND THE SCENES: I'm obsessed with country music. I wish I could sing so bad.

HARD HITTERS

CALI ESTES

FAVORITE PART: I am an extremely competitive person, and I love the pace of the game. It is such a momentum sport that takes six individuals working together to be successful. It is a fun sport to play and watch.

TRAINING ROUTINE: There is a lot of preparation that comes with being a varsity athlete. Everything from weight lifting, conditioning, practice, and film is necessary to prepare for competition and play at a high level.

TEAM LIFE: We are a very close group of girls and even off the court you will most of the time find us together. The "team life" is one of the biggest reasons I have kept working at this sport. The long bus rides and weekends of away games are what make us so close and makes the best memories. It is like having 13 sisters to hang out with whenever you want.

BIGGEST INFLUENCE: My biggest influences are my parents because they have always supported my athletic career and been the first people I want to share my success and failures with. They are definitely my biggest fans.

FAVORITE PART: My favorite part of running is to be able to work as a team to chase after goals we have set together. Many people think cross country is an individual sport, but it is all about how you work together with your teammates and push each other to run the fastest you can.

TRAINING ROUTINE: We have basic runs about five times a week where I run between 7 to 8 miles. Then we have a long run on the weekend where I run about twelve miles.

LEADERSHIP: Last year, I was appointed as Captain of the cross country team. I see myself as a leader not only by leading by example but also from the active voice I have on the team. I work my hardest each and every day for my teammates so I can lead them as our front runner on the course.

CAMPUS INVOLVEMENT: I am the secretary for Autism Speaks and a SAAC representative for the athletic department.

BIGGEST PET PEEVE: My biggest pet peeve is when people are afraid of chasing after their goals. No one should ever fear the possibility of failing.

LEADERSHIP: As one of the two seniors on the team, I've become a more vocal leader this year, especially to our freshman. I try to help them learn and understand our system.

TEAM LIFE: Our team life can vary from laid back to very crazy! We have so many different personalities on our team, and we love to have fun. Before every home game we like to jam out and get hype in our locker room.

FUNNY MEMORY: In my freshman year, we played a game at the University of West Virginia. On the bus ride back (nine hours), our bus broke down on the side of the road! We were stuck there waiting for another bus to come pick us up - needless to say, I'll always remember that.

TEAM LIFE: Off the court we are always around each other. We eat together, hang out together, and go to other sports events together. On game days, right before tip off, we huddle up and get each other amped up for the game.

LEADERSHIP: I make sure when it's time to practice that everybody is ready to go and encourage my teammates in any way that I can. I tend to lead by example, and some of the younger guys do what I do and so they learn from me.

BIGGEST INFLUENCE: My mother. She used to be my coach when I was growing up, and she still gives me advice to this day.

FUNNY MEMORY: When Jack Isenbarger's shorts dropped to his ankles during one of our games.

IMPACT AT ELON: I want to show that us athletes work hard both on the court/fields and in the classroom. Most people only see us when we play our games but they do not see the amount of work that we put in off the court whether that is studying or practicing.

BEHIND THE SCENES: I like going snorkeling. I love playing with puppies. I used to be a good snowboarder.

SUNNA VIDISDOTTIR

TEAM LIFE: We are a small team, eight players, and due to that we are really close and spend a lot of time together.

FAVORITE PART: Being able to spend four to five hours outside with my friends and family.

FUNNY MEMORY: Last spring I was playing with Heather Dockrill at Indian Valley. I had bogeyed the first hole and got a par on the second hole. I got a birdie on the third hole, made a putt from outside the green for a birdie on the fourth, and then chipped in for a birdie on the fifth hole. After my drive on six, Heather said 'If you make a birdie on this hole we are going to go buy a lottery ticket after the round.' I hit a good shot into the green with a hybrid but couldn't find the ball when I walked to the green. After searching for a little bit, we found the ball in the hole; I had made an eagle. We both started laughing but sadly I didn't win anything in the lottery!

BIGGEST FEAR: Being alone in the dark

COFFEE OR TEA: Tea

FUN FACT: I owned a motocross bike I was younger, I have a 10 months old sister, I don't sing in front of people ever.

FAVORITE PART OF THE GAME: It is all on the player and the number you shoot. There is no referee or anyone to blame for missing a shot or dropping a pass TEAM LIFE: We have great team chemistry and all the guys get a long very well. Golf is different because there are only 10 guys on the whole team, so we are all close.

BIGGEST INFLUENCE: Eric Thomas. He is a worldwide speaker, educator and author. I have known him for a couple years and has had the biggest influence on my walk with God and work ethic.

HOW DID YOU GET INVOLVED WITH GOLF? My dad played a lot when my brother and me were younger and we both grew up playing it all the time with him.

WHAT'S IN YOUR REFRIGERATOR? A pot of coffee (prefer iced coffee), milk, eggs, Gatorade, water, hummus, and Greek yogurt.

TRAINING ROUTINE: I practice a lot, typically 6- 8 hours every day.

PEANUT BUTTER OR JELLY? Peanut butter, for sure.

COFFEE OR TEA? 4-ish cups of coffee a day.

HOW DO YOU WANT TO LEAVE AN IMPACT AS AN ELON ATHLETE? I want to be looked at as one of the hardest workers in the classroom and on the course to attend Elon.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT: Stuart Kaufman watches his shot. Jonathan Dilanni holds a strong follow through. John Somers displays the trophy he received for first place. Troy Beaver tees off. (Photos by University Athletics)

FAVORITE PART: The adrenaline rush while running a race. It is also a really rewarding sport, so the feeling after I PR in an event.

TRAINING ROUTINE: A regular training week consists of 2-3 hard sprint workouts and 2 days of recovery/technique work. Besides running as a team we also have weight lifting practice three times a week out of season and two times a week in season.

TEAM LIFE: Before the conference meet we have a secret psyher week, where each person on the team surprises another with quotes and small gifts to get them pumped up for the championship and then on the day before we leave for conference we reveal.

LEADERSHIP: I try to encourage my teammates and support them both in practice and also in races.

IMPACT AT ELON: Before I graduate I hope that I will be able to accomplish some of my long term goals which are getting the school record in the 400m, placing in the top three at the championship meet in an individual event, and win a championship as a team!

PET PEEVE: When people are late.

COFFEE OR TEA: Tea

FRIDA JANSAKER

TRAINING ROUTINE: Usually we practice about 2 and a half hours every day except Sundays. After classes, we have weights twice a week for one hour and, apart from that, we do extra conditioning and footwork.

TEAM LIFE: I love my team! Playing college tennis made me love the sport again. Tennis can be such a lonely and selfish sport, but making it a team sport in college is so much more fun!

INVOLVEMENT: My dad was born the same year as Bjorn Borg, the famous Swedish tennis player that won Wimbledon several times. Tennis was therefore very popular when he was young, so he wanted his kids to play it. I started picking up a racket when I was four years old.

FUNNY MEMORY: We are a very goofy group of girls. There is funny stuff happening all the time, and since we have many international girls, we tend to make fun of each others accents and lack of vocabulary.

OTHER INVOLVEMENT: I'm involved a lot in the business school. I am a member of Sigma Iota Epsilon, the management fraternity.

PEANUT BUTTER OR JELLY?: Neither. Nutella!

TRAINING ROUTINE: We practice intensely 6 days a week. We usually spend around 2.5 hours on court per day. That's not including strength and conditioning training which varies depending what time of the season we are in.

FUNNIEST MOMENT: The funniest thing I've seen was someone smashing a ball into the fence out of anger. The ball rebounded off the pole, came back and hit the guy in the area which most males do not necessarily enjoy getting hit in. He dropped on the spot.

OTHER INVOLVEMENT: I am Vice President of LEAF, which is an on campus Christian ministry. I am part of the ElonDocs Production program and I have worked for the athletic department, the Pendulum and the Edge Magazine as a photographer.

BIGGEST INFLUENCE: My parents. They have taught me priorities in life. They always have my back. They always believe in my intentions. They have made my opportunities a reality every time.

PET PEEVE: I am definitely a bit OCD. Things have to be straight and symmetrical: don't hang a poster anywhere on the wall, measure the center, level it. Colors have to match: do not wear navy with black. A crackling radio may still be the worst thing though.

CAITLIN O'SHEA

FAVORITE PART: MY favorite part about playing softball is the opportunity it has given me to make some of my best friends.

INVOLVEMENT: I started playing when I was just a little girl but I started pitching because my older sister, Erin, was a pitcher. And naturally, I wanted to be just like her.

IMPACT AT ELON: It would be incredible to win a conference championship. It would be amazing to say that I was a conference champion while at Elon.

FUNNY MEMORY: Last season we were getting ready to play a game in Florida when a Michael Jackson song came on. My teammate, Carleigh Nester, and I decided to have our own dance party in the outfield and later realized we were being filmed the entire time.

BIGGEST INFLUENCE: My family is my biggest support system, and I couldn't have achieved half the things I have without them by my side.

REFRIGERATOR CONTENTS: Gatorade, pineapple orange juice, and salsa. Not much, but luckily my roommate has a meal plan and loves to share swipes.

CASEY JONES

TRAINING ROUTINE: We work out as a team three times a week on top of practices and games that happen throughout the week. I always hit in the batting cages before practice and sometimes after practice to get a little extra work before our games and practices.

LEADERSHIP: I try to lead by example and do the right things on and off the field. I hope that the younger guys on the team look at me as a good role model. I try to talk to all of the guys too whenever they need help. I talk to them not only about baseball but other stuff going on in their life.

FUNNIEST MEMORY: Recently this year I have had a problem with holding onto the bat when I am hitting. I have been letting go of it a lot lately and the bat has seemed to find its way into the parking lot on multiple occasions.

BIGGEST INFLUENCE: My dad is my biggest influence and motivator. He has coached me through this game all my life and he has continued to do so in college as well. Every night after a game I call him and we talk on the phone about the game and the things that the team and I did well at or poorly at. He always keeps me motivated to do more and more.

uit up and prepare to face off against another the other sports team. Even if you don't play a varsity sport but still want to experience the thrill of athletic competition, Elon University's Club Sports program allows students to get involved and still play the sports they love. Club Sports at Elon is administered by members of Campus Recreation to uphold professional guidance under the Club Sports Council. The Council includes each sport's president and an advisor. The program offers students the opportunity to compete against other club teams all throughout the southeast.

Club Sports offer a wide variety with 24 sports included in the selection to choose from. Anything from fishing and rugby to martial arts and ice hockey are offered for Elon students. New clubs can be formed by student officers in the Council who work with their advisor and the Club Sports staff to bring them to campus. So go out and play! JORDAN ROMAN

intramurals

Intramural sports at Elon are a fun and exciting way to compete in a wide variety of sports against other students and have a blast at the same time. Elon Recreations offers over twenty different activities in various skill levels in men, women and co-ed leagues. Some of the exciting activities that are offered include 7v7 flag football, team tennis, wallyball, 4v4 basketball, kickball, dodgeball, and cornhole among many others. The great thing about intramurals is that the varieties of activities offered are not often found in any other competitive leagues around the nation. Intramurals present fun and engaging ways to participate in these fun activities without the pressure of statistics or varsity athletics. It is also a great way to meet people. Campus champions in certain activities receive the opportunity to compete at the state, regional, and national levels of competition as well. With all of the exciting opportunities, it is a must to get involved with intramurals at Elon. So what are you waiting for? Get out there and play!

We're extremely proud of how you've grown; and everything you've accomplished these past 4 years!

Happy are those that dream dreams...And... Are willing to pay the price to make them come true.

Forever Lovingly
Mom & Dad

NICK MARGHERITA

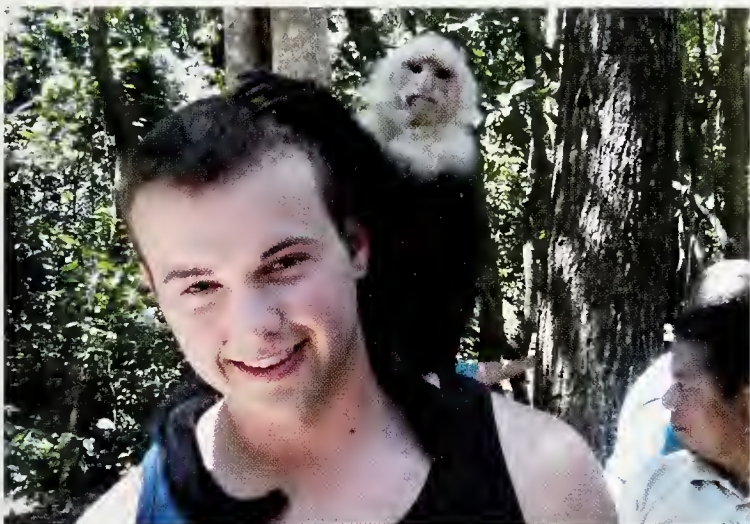

MY WISH FOR YOU
IS THAT THIS LIFE BECOMES ALL THAT YOU WANT IT TO YOUR DREAMS STAY BIG, YOUR WORRIES STAY SMALL
YOU NEVER NEED TO CARRY MORE THAN YOU CAN HOLD AND WHILE YOU'RE OUT THERE GETTIN' WHERE YOU'RE GETTIN' TO
I HOPE YOU KNOW SOMEBODY LOVES YOU AND WANTS THE SAME THINGS TOO
YEAH, THIS IS MY WISH

- RASCAL FLATTS

LOVE, MOM AND DAD

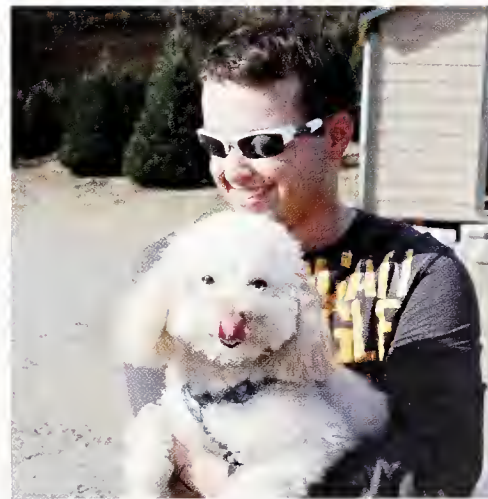

TYLER DAVID FELD

Tyler,
We are proud of the person you've become. We're proud that you give your time to others, root for the underdog, show kindness to others and choose to do the right thing. As your favorite saying goes, "live life like it's the 2 minute warning."

We love you,
Mom, Dad and Alphie

YOU ARE A LIGHT TO A DARK WORLD, AND YOU KEEP YOUR HEAD ON STRAIGHT WHILE THOSE AROUND
YOU ARE LOSING THEIRS. YOUR FAMILY CAN ONLY IMAGINE WHAT GOD HAS IN STORE FOR YOU. YOUR SUCCESS IN ELON'S RECORD BOOK IS ONLY A BEGIN-NING TO WHAT LIES AHEAD FOR YOU, AND IT IS OBVI-OUS THAT YOU ARE CHOSEN TO ACCOMPLISH GREAT THINGS. WE LOVE YOU WITH UNCONDITIONAL LOVE.
YOUR FAMILY

TRACY RAETZ

We are all born into this world with a source of light, yours just shines a little bit brighter. It has been a pleasure to watch you grow and develop into the amazing young woman you are. Your dedication, drive and determination have gotten you to where you are and you are amazing. You leave Elon ready to make your mark and you couldn't be any better prepared.

May all your dreams come true.

Love, Mom and Dad

NICOLE CHADWICK

Nicole, we are so proud of you and all you have accomplished in four short years at Elon!
But most of all, we are proud of the beautiful young woman you have become.
You are a wonderful daughter, sister, and friend. We can't wait to see what the future holds!
God bless you always, and in the words of Dr. Suess, "Oh, the Places You'll Go!"

Love,
Mom, Dad, Carolyn & Jack

AIYANA WILLIAMS

Congratulations Aiyana

Well done! I am extremely proud of you and all of your accomplishments. Your strength, determination, and courage are truly amazing. I can't wait to see what the future holds.

somebody call smokey. Drought conditions and dry foliage resulted in massive forest fires across the Western states. Sun Valley Idaho, known for its luxe ski resort, got hit hard by the flames ripping through the mountains. Over # resident evacuated their homes as firefighters doused flames with water and fire repellant in hopes of steering the fire away from the valley. Elon junior and Sun Valley resident Ellen Davis breathed a sigh of relief on when firefighters reported 90% of the fire was contained. "I'm just glad my neighbors were their to get my dog out of town before it got really close," Ellen said shots fired in kenya A Somali militant group al-Shabab spent a few days at the Westgate Mall in Kenya and went on a killing spree. 68 people were killed, and 175 were injured. Shots were fired indiscriminately at anyone who was not obviously Muslim. The terror group has close ties with al-Qaeda and had voiced their distaste with the West and Kenya before. It was the worst attack since the U.S. embassy bombing in 1998.

mass-exodus The Arab Spring in 2011 triggered peaceful protests of the Syrian regime. However, brutal government retaliation threw the country into a brutal civil war. The violent backlash resulted in a mass exodus of Syrians into the surrounding countries in order to escape the war. In September, the death toll was estimated to be more than 100,000 people and the number of people displaced reached over 6 million. The war eventually escalated into the chemical attack that occurred in Damascus suburbs on August 21. The attack claimed the lives of 1,429 people and injured thousands more. The illegality of the use of chemical weapons brought the current crisis in Syria to the center stage of international issues. After much negotiation within the U.N, the international community condemned the Bashar al-Assad government for its use of chemical weapons. Syria has been forced to dispose of all chemical armaments and facilities connected to the production with toxic weapons.

no deal. government closed. The congress refusal to agree on a budget or pass a spending bill forced a government shutdown on October 1st. No reason to fear; the shutdown was only partial. Unemployment, social security and Medicare benefits continued, and federal air traffic controllers and police reported to work. U.S. Postal Service also continued living up to it's pledge: "Neither rain nor snow nor gloom of night [nor shutdown] will deter its couriers from their appointed rounds." So who was affected? About 800,000 federal workers got a two week vacation, including good ole' Smokey the Bear and his National Parks.

everyone loves a good wedding, not so much a monopoly. American Airlines and US Airways' marriage on November 12 created the world's largest airline. The Justice Department sued back in August because they were concerned about reduced competition in the industry. In order to preserve competition, the new couple had to agree to give up landing slots and gates in major U.S. cities. The merger was complete in December.

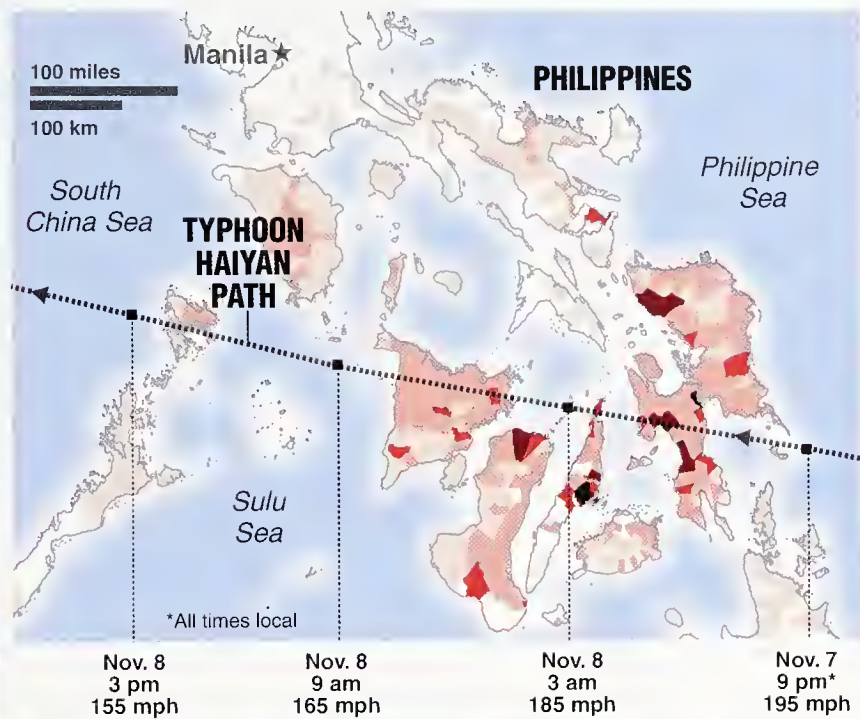

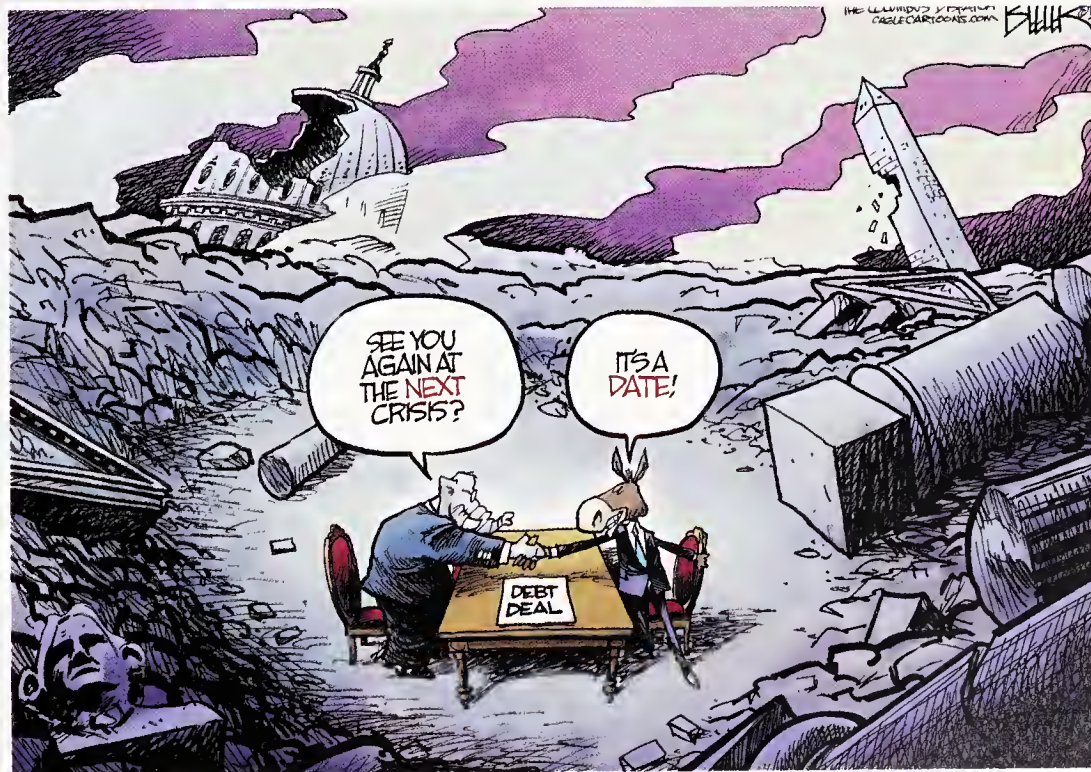

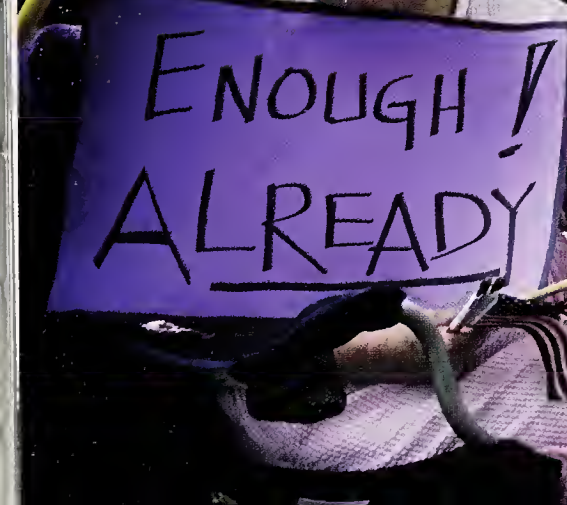

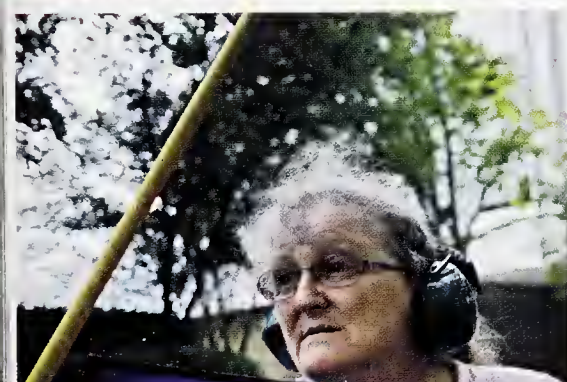

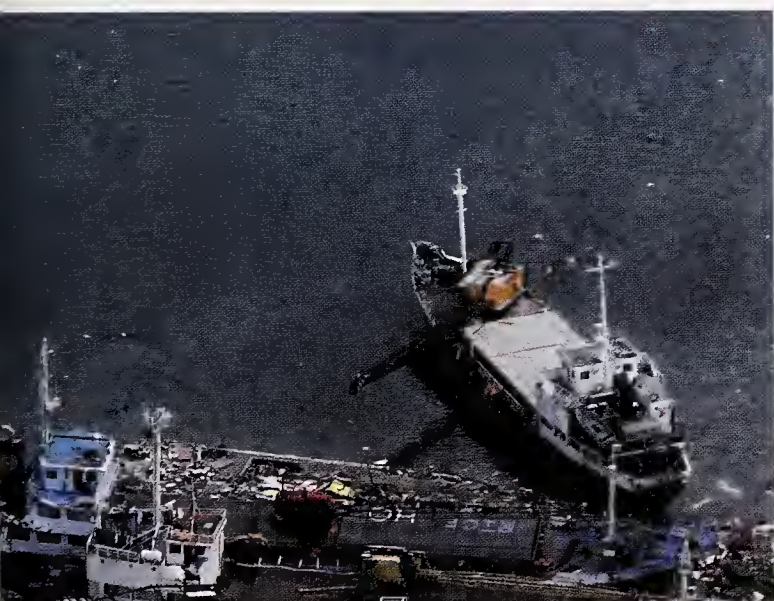

poor, poor philippines. Less than a month after a 7.2 magnitude earthquake rocked the island nation killing nearly 150 people, Mother Nature was back for another assault: Haiyan- the Super Typhoon. Winds whipped up to 195 M.P.H. and massive storm surges destroyed roads and homes. Thousands of people were displaced and several thousand died. The Red Cross and U.N. rushed in to provide aid when Philippine President Aquino declared a state of emergency.

the south and winter do not mix. While the rest of the world gets 2" pretty much every other day, the dusting of ice in Atlanta on January 29 was no joke. Sarah Biondich, an Atlanta resident commented, "My friend's mom was on the road for 12 hours just to pick up her son from school. It's normally only 20 minutes away. IT'S CRAZY!" Unfortunately, Jack Frost returned a few weeks later, only this time, to cover North Carolina in white. Elon students can thank the snow-day gods for the five-day weekend.

in remembrance. One of the world's greatest political figures and peace-keepers, Nelson Mandela passed on December 6. While he will forever be remembered for his role in abolishing the apartheid era in South-Africa, he will live on through his memorable, thought-provoking quotes:

"No one is born hating another person because of the color of his skin, or his background, or his religion. People must learn to hate, and if they can learn to hate, they can be taught to love, for love comes more naturally to the human heart than the opposite."

people fitter than you. In all Russia's excitement to host the 2014 Winter Olympic Games, they forgot to plan. As the games drew near, Russia focused on eradicating Sochi of homosexuals and stray dogs while Islamist terrorist groups made threats and hotels stood with no floors, lighting, or running water. Despite the international communities concern, the games ran without any major glitches. Unknown athletes took home medals for their countries, and snowboarding king Shaun White most likely saw his last halfpipe run. Russia managed to take home 33 gold medals beating out the United State's 28.

Yanukovich splitting the nation into pro-Russian and pro-EU sections. In response to the overthrow of the pro-Russian government, Russia practiced military drills and set off intercontinental missile tests on the border of Ukrainian territory Crimea. In a messy custody battle, Crimea eventually split to join Russia, and the EU coughed up $15 billion to support the crippling Ukrainian economy.

Turns out two people on the manifest from Italy and Austria had stolen passports and were never onboard. Weeks of searching found no confirmed debris from the plane. did you vote today? April was a month of historical elections. Despite threats from the Taliban and inclement weather, Afghanistan had its first, successful, democratic election. The election marks a new era of stability for Afghanistan and an incentive to continue the withdrawal of United States troops from the country. Besides the excitement in Afghanistan, India held the largest election in history. Over 814.5 million citizens were eligible to vote. Narendra Modi took home the win. His own brother is afraid of him. Not sure what that means for India.

change your passwords. A bug was found in OpenSSL which is one of the most widely used internet security coding software. Have you ever seen the little lock that sits at the top of your browser on certain websites like Facebook or WellsFargo? It is a sign that the information your transmit is safe. Turns out this little bug made the lock irrelevant and essentially gave your house keys to cyber criminals. The bug which affectionately got named "Heartbleed," has only been around for two years.

soldiers in charge. Thailand had, yet again, another coup. After throwing out their prime minister the military decided they could do a better job at running the country. General Prayuth Chan-ocha, the army chief, of Thailand declared martial law and seized power from the interim government. He argued the coup was necessary to prevent the violence in Bangkok that resulted in the loss of life and property. Citizens were not exactly pleased with martial rule- especially after the military began cutting out internet and social media. General Prayuth said things would return to normal once people stopped protesting...

COLOPHON

1000 copies of the 99th edition of Elon University’s Phi Psi Cli yearbook were printed by Balfour Publishing in Dallas, TX. Free copies of the book were distributed to students, faculty, and staff and sent home to class of 2014 graduates at their request.

The 2014 theme, “125”, was chosen by the staff in celebration of Elon University’s 125th anniversary. Throughout the 224 page all-color book, collages of historical images from the past 125 years are included.

The staff used six Apple iMacs and Nikon D80s to produce the book. Programs used included InDesign CS6, Photoshop CS6, and Microsoft Word. The 9 by 12 cover is constructed of 4-color lithocote gloss lamination. The front and back endsheets are white CIS endsheet stock. The inside pages are printed on 100 lb. dull enamel paper. Primary fonts used were Gross, Opificio, and Sandford.

Each section of the book has been indicated by the use of a single color collage and numerical facts. These colors make up the color palette of the 2014 book. The colors were used to indicate the following sections: student life, academics, sports, seniors, news, and index.

Lifetouch Studios of Burlington, NC photographed all senior portraits on designated photo days throughout the year. Pictures on all pages were either submitted or obtained by a Phi Psi Cli staff member or were submitted by the member of the Elon community indicated.

The staff of Phi Psi Cli would like to thank all those who made this book possible, including, but not limited to; all students who submitted pictures and stories, the Media Board for their guidance, and our advisor, Randy Piland, for his continued support and advice. We would also like to thank our Taylor representatives; Account Executive Milani Arguilles and local senior representative Shandi Foster. Thank you for your continued enthusiasm and support.
